

Papa Westray

... Where oceans meet

Travellers to Papa Westray come from the five continents for an experience which lasts only a couple of minutes. They want to fly on the shortest scheduled air flight in the world between Westray and Papa Westray – a distance shorter than the main runway at Heathrow which has been completed in less than a minute and is featured in the Guinness Book of Records.

Papa Westray, or Papay as it is known through the North Isles, is home to the oldest house in northern Europe at the Knap of Howar. Farmers, incredibly, were busy here before the pyramids were built in Egypt.

In the Dark Ages the island took on great religious significance and St Boniface kirk, one of the oldest Christian sites in the north of Scotland, was a pilgrimage site and missionary out station. Now lovingly restored it is once again attracting visitors.

Papay is famous for its birds and the North Hill is a top-rated nature reserve. Airborne visitors who land on Westray en route for Papay will experience the shortest scheduled flight in the world – don't blink or you'll miss it (under 2 minutes).

While on the island you must visit the farm of Holland and its amazing complex of agricultural buildings adjacent to Holland House which was the seat of the Traill lairds of Papay for three centuries. The farm includes a splendid mill tramp where horses provided the pulling power.

One of the farm workers' bothies has been converted into a compact museum displaying a fascinating range of artifacts from the island's history including the parish handcuffs!

Points of interest

- 1 Beltane: The heart of the island. Location of the community co-operative shop & hostel and venue for community events.
- 2 Church/Surgery & School: St Ann's Centre, Church of Scotland and Doctor's Surgery and just along the road, the community school; third building in this complex is School Place, the Free Church school in use until 1877.
- 3 The Water Mill: On an isolated headland, this building was last used for milling oats about 100 years ago. Remains of the undershot wheel and millstones can be seen.
- 4 St Tredwell's Chapel: On a small peninsula are traces of an Iron Age fortification and the walls of a Medieval chapel and beehive cells ... a place of pilgrimage as late as the 18th century.
- 5 Bronze Age Landmarks: Between St Tredwell's Loch and the farm of Cuppin the remains of a gairsty or treb-dyke, a Bronze age boundary, can be traced.
- 6 Bothican: A fine sandy bay close to the New Pier where the ferry from Kirkwall and the link service with Westray calls. In summer the area of machair is rich in orchids and other wild flowers.
- 7 Minister's Flag: At one time the minister from Westray had to land here and walk below the high tide line to St Boniface kirk because the Traill laird would not let him on his land. The laird and the kirk were often at loggerheads.
- 8 Burnt Mound: Just to the east of Backaskaill lies a large, grass-covered knoll created by the accumulation of burnt stones which had been heated and immersed in tanks to cook meat.
- 9 Holland Farm: Formerly the home of the Traill family, lairds of the island for three centuries, this is perhaps the most extensive traditional steading in Orkney. It features a doo'cot, mill tramp and corn-drying kiln. Don't miss John o' Holland's Museum.
- 10 Knap of Howar: Earliest standing house in Northern Europe. These well preserved buildings were occupied by neolithic farmers over 5000 years ago.
- 11 St Boniface Kirk: One of the oldest Christian sites in the North of Scotland. The old kirk, with stonework dating from the 12th century, has been restored in recent years.
- 12 Munkerhouse: Exposed on the shore below the kirk (see 11) are the remains of a settlement dating from the Bronze Age to the Medieval Period.

- 13 North Hill: A wild and windswept nature reserve managed by the people of Papay in conjunction with the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds and Scottish Natural Heritage. There is a summer warden on this important site.
- 14 Fowl Craig: A spectacular cliff nesting site. Care is required. Puffins may be seen April-July, occasionally first two weeks in August. Back from the cliff edge is Papay's famous colony of Primula Scotica.
- 15 South of Fowl Craig: As the land levels out to the south of Fowl Craig there is a huge area of sea-turned stones and remains of many small, walled enclosures or crues used for growing vegetables or penning geese.
- 16 North & South Wick: Lovely bays of sparkling white sand and the best locations on the island for viewing the colony of Common and Grey seals which bask on the taints or tidal reefs.
- 17 Cott: A number of fishing boats used to be beached here as can be seen from the keel marks on the stone and the unusually tall boat nausts or shelters in the banks.
- 18 The Old Pier: The steamer from Kirkwall called here once a week before the New Pier was built in 1970. It is now used by local lobster boats and for access to the Holm of Papay.
- 19 Nouster: Excellent examples of boat nousts. These can be traced all round the island shore indicating the presence of hundreds of boats in time gone by.
- 20 The Holm of Papay: One of the most impressive chambered cairns in Orkney can be seen on this deserted isle also another smaller stalled cairn.

Geography

Lying roughly on the same latitude as Stavanger in Norway the island is one of the most remote of the Orkney group. Just over four miles long by a mile wide the scenery ranges from impressive cliffs, through wide sandy bays to rolling agricultural land.

The cliffs at the northern tip, heavily eroded by the fearsome seas, are steep and densely populated by seabirds. The North Hill (next stop the Arctic Circle!) is a lonely and inspiring location – a must for anyone still with a love of empty spaces and a bit of poetry in their soul.

Off Mull Head right at the northern tip of the isle is the Bore, a fearsome tidal race where the Atlantic crashes into the North Sea – under certain tidal conditions this is a boiling cauldron with waves breaking many fathoms below the surface.

Wildlife

With its wide variety of habitats Papay is particularly rich in seabirds with the best known being the elegant Arctic tern as well as Guillemots, Kittiwakes, Razorbills and Puffins on the cliffs. Snipe, Curlew and Lark are commonplace in the fields while on the Holm, the calf island, Storm Petrels and Black Guillemots are to be found. Papa Westray, sadly was the home of the last Great Auk in the United Kingdom, killed in 1813. A wide range of wildflowers are rooted in Papay and the local seal colony is always interested in wanderers along the east shore.

History

Papay has traces of many early buildings, the most spectacular being the Neolithic farmstead at the Knap of Howar. Pictish brochs (fortified round towers) have been identified at several sites, notably at Munkerhouse and St Tredwell's Chapel on an artificial peninsula in the loch of the same name. At the Chapel during excavations the bones of a woman were uncovered and it has been speculated that this may be St Tredwell herself.

Munkerhouse, adjacent to St Boniface, is now regarded as a significant location. Much lies buried beneath the kirkyard and a settlement site has been exposed by erosion on the shore.

Viking sites are less easily identifiable but the Scandinavian links can be traced, as elsewhere, through the farm names. Only in 1472 did Papay along with the rest of Orkney become part of Scotland – pledged as a royal marriage dowry. There are interesting burial sites, including the impressive chambered cairn on the Holm, a lonely, atmospheric place.

Lifestyle

The pace of life of Papa Westray's farmers and fishermen is very much ordered by the changing seasons and community life centres around the arrivals and departures of ferry and plane. Cars still take second place to walkers on the few miles of metalled roads.

At the centre of the island is the only shop, run by the islands community co-operative, it is the focal point of community life. Adjoining the shop is the Beltane House, run by the community as a hostel and a venue for community social events. This building is part of a row of renovated farm workers cottages formerly belonging to Holland Farm and offers magnificent views out towards Eday and Sanday.

Unquestionably 1980 was a watershed year for the island with the opening of the facilities at Beltane and the arrival of mains electricity via an underwater cable, however there is still a constant battle to keep the island's mini-economy afloat.
